Reminder - Availability of Index Notifications for ECPI Indices via email

Dear Customer,

STOXX Ltd., the operator of ISS STOXX index business and a global provider of innovative and tradable index concepts, reminds clients that, as part of the STOXX website enhancement, ECPI clients are now able to receive ECPI Index notifications by email once they have registered on the STOXX website and subscribed to the relevant notifications. User subscriptions on the STOXX website enable notifications as follows:

- E-mail alerts related to Index real-time calculations, changes of Corporate Actions treatment already announced and effective t+1, Index Review announcements and publications.
- Announcements related to Index maintenance information such as Corporate Actions treatment displayed under the Index Updates section.
- Announcements related to Index corrections and index suspensions / terminations displayed under the Dissemination section.
- Announcements related to Index Methodologies updates, Index Review Calendars, displayed under the Methodology section.
- Announcements related to Systems and files enhancement displayed under the Systems & IT section.

STOXX strongly recommends ECPI Customers and Users register on www.stoxx.com to benefit from the enhanced service and information related to ECPI index brands, as well as to any system or file enhancements that may be announced in due time and prior to implementation.
